D*FACE

Biography

Dean Stockton (UK, 1978), better known by his alias D*Face, is an English street artist who uses spray paint, stickers, posters, and stencils. He has been one of the figures who has led contemporary urban art, especially on British streets, a country where this trend stands out for its ingenious and brilliant cultural criticism.

D*Face can be considered one of the world's most provocative contemporary urban artists. Through the use of images and the subtlety of Pop Art, his narrative style often alludes to the fragility of life, while reflecting popular culture, the notion of good triumphing over evil and the stereotypes of the American dream.
