ARTUR RAMON ART

MIA LLAUDER

Biography

Mia Llauder (1962) studied ceramics at the Escola Massana and Applied Arts at the Escola de la Llotja, she is a member of the Geneva International Ceramic Academy.

Her sculptures are shaped by the link of modules: the prepetition of pieces of porcelain. Elements that have been made over the years, collected into a sample of basic units that the artist keeps in a drawer and concatenate, line up to write her stories. Recently the basic units have lost prominence to give way to the relationships that bind them. In previous pieces, the ties were subsidiary, imperceptibly white, as a base or support located behind, hidden inside the porcelain. Links were subject to the individual element. Now, on the contrary, they are the main reason. The colour red has given them importance and generates lines connecting the primary elements, make a drawing.
